

"Choice" - Sequoia's New After School Homework Program

A letter was sent home earlier this week regarding Sequoia's new after school homework program, "Choice".

The purpose of this program is twofold:

1. To serve as an opportunity for students to work on homework that was not completed on the day it was due.
2. To provide students with a consequence for not completing his/her homework and turning it in on the day it was due.

"Choice" will be supervised by teachers Monday-Friday from 3:05 PM - 3:40 PM. A student is assigned "Choice" if they do not have their homework completed and turned in on the day it is due. An all-call will go home each afternoon/evening to the parents/guardians of the students who have been assigned "Choice" for the following day. This gives parents notification in advance that their student will be staying after school. Parents are required to provide their own transportation home for students who have been assigned Choice.

If a student does not show up to the "Choice" program, he/she will be assigned a Saturday School by an administrator.
